Cycle code of conduct

Lights, both front and back, are a legal requirement on a bicycle. Use them at all times when visibility is reduced.

Ring your bell to alert pedestrians, other cyclists, and other road users that you are approaching.

Visitors to Brighton & Hove may not be aware of the seafront cycle route. Give way to pedestrians where possible. If you are in a hurry use the road.

Cyclists need to follow the Highway Code.

Jumping red lights is illegal.
If you do so, you may be fined.

Cycling on pavements is illegal.
If you do so, you may be fined.
